

COME ALONG, BOYS, PULLMAN MAY OPEN A "KEG OF NAILS"

Major Raymond W. Pullman, superintendent of police, is a much puzzled official today. He says he has a white elephant on his hands.

When he reached his office this morning in the District building not only did he find a number of congratulatory letters and telegrams on the beginning of his fourth term of office as head of the Metropolitan police but a bill of lading, setting out that there were 200 kegs of nails awaiting his claim at the ordnance station of the War Department at Sixth and B streets.

"Two hundred kegs of nails," he muttered. "What is the name of Caesar am I going to do with 200 kegs of nails?"

Edward C. Hess, chief clerk of the Police Department, was summoned and questioned. "What are we going to do with these nails?" queried Major Pullman.

Inquiry at the ordnance office by Mr. Hess elicited the information that the nails had been consigned to "Major Raymond W. Pullman."

"It's a mistake—it's a mistake," exclaimed Major Pullman. Now the members of the Detective Bureau are making an investigation. Major Pullman insists that the rightful owner of the nails be found. The Government, it was whispered, probably ordered the nails and the manufacturer in consigning them got the name confused with a major in the ordnance department.

NEW DESTROYERS NAMED FOR HEROES OF PAST WARS

Several American heroes of past wars are honored by the Navy Department in the naming of several new destroyers now being built for the Navy. Secretary Daniels has just made public the following names for the new destroyers:

The Belknap, in honor of Rear Admiral George Eugene Belknap, of Newport, N. H., a civil war hero.

The Badger, for Commodore Oscar A. Badger, of Connecticut, who saw service in the Mexican and civil wars.

The Walker, for Rear Admiral John Grimes Walker, of Hillsborough, N. H., who served with distinction on a Union flotilla in the Mississippi river naval campaign.

The Crosby, for Rear Admiral Pierce Crosby, of Delaware County, Pennsylvania, a civil war hero.

The Gamble, for Commodore John M. Gamble and Lieut. Peter Gamble, who served in the war of 1812.

The Twiggs, for Maj. Levi Twiggs, of the Marine Corps, who served from Tripoli to the halls of the Montezuma.

1,193 VESSELS BEING RUSHED FOR WAR WORK

Spurred by the German threat on the west coast, America's shipbuilders today are speeding work on cargo and transport bottoms that more thousands of soldiers—and supplies to maintain them—may be rushed to France.

In addition to 1,118 cargo vessels under construction now, there are seventy-five combined cargo and transport bottoms being rushed to completion, the shipping board announced today. These will produce 610,000 tons, it is stated.

Simultaneously, it was announced that co-operation between the shipping board and railroad administration has broken the big freight jam, the clearances of ships have rapidly increased, and for the first time supplies are awaiting vessels.

The situation is shown in the following table of arrivals and departures of vessels during the last four months.

Dec. Jan. Feb. March
Arrivals 871 799 997 862
Departures 740 723 892 975

The Shipping Board today announced that America's building program has been increased 2,200,000 deadweight tons since March 1, and now embraces 1,176 vessels.

Of the total tonnage now contemplated—10,404,285—only 2,255,000 tons or 335 vessels have been obtained through requisitioning.

NURSE TELLS POLICE SHE KILLED SISTER

TRENTON, N. J., April 1.—Miss Estelle Connelley, thirty, a school teacher, was found dead in bed yesterday when police burst open the door. Her wrists were cut, and she had bled to death. Her sister, Miss Cornelia Connelley, a trained nurse, proclaimed herself as the murderer. She is regarded as demented. But whether she actually slew her sister in a fit of mental aberration or merely fancied that she was the slayer after becoming demented upon discovery that the teacher had committed suicide is a mystery the authorities will seek to unravel.

PARIS LIMITS MENUS.

PARIS, April 1.—A uniform menu has been finally adopted by the restaurant association of Paris. The menu will be limited to four side dishes and oysters, soup, two dishes made from eggs, four kinds of fish, four kinds of meat, four vegetables and fruit.

Customers will be entitled to one side dish or oysters, one of soup, two dishes either of meat or vegetables and fruit.
